

Terms & conditions free access public transport during ESTIV 2024

In order to receive free access for public transport, your name and email address or phone number is required.

The organization is obliged to archive the tickets recipients' data (first and last name, country of residence) for 10 years after the last date of event for the Transport Company. The purposes and reasons are following:

- The tax authorities: in case of a tax inspection within the following 10 years, the local tax authority may request the documents containing records of the conferences participants. Although they distribute the tickets free of charge, the Transport Company pays taxes (VAT and even income tax!) calculated on the basis of their regular price and number of the used tickets.
- Tickets distribution: since the PCB is engaged as an intermediary, the Transport Company needs the list as an evidence, that we delivered tickets to the congress participants (and not to other unspecified recipients).
- International participation: the list provides an evidence that at least 20% of the recipients arrive from abroad (as specified by the conditions for applicants).

Neither the Transport Company, nor PCB are entitled to process the lists for any other purpose than those I've mentioned above (as specified by the GDPR). Therefore, please, do not include any contact data, academic titles, names of institutions, etc. in the registration list.
